Melania Kaufis

Melania,

You're quite the babe. I was so psyched when I got over my fear of your awesomeness and began to talk to you. I found that you were twice as cool as I had hoped you were. Will we ever play squash? I sincerely hope so. I wish I had more time to get to know you better - Let's still be good friends. Come visit me next year, I'd be more than happy to show you around. Enjoy your senior year and don't give your suitors too hard of a time. Love ya babe.

TIDE
1986
HANOVER HIGH SCHOOL !!!!

The good ship Hanover left port in September, sailing into uncertain waters. Our sextant was set for one single destination: June. Our mission was to learn, while at the same time live up to the old adage that these are the best years of our lives. With a crew of 637, a bridge of officers led by the fearless Captain Bagnato, and the crack mess crew headed by the chief Dave Charbono; it seemed as though our journey couldn't help but be smooth. Our fine crew known affectionately as the "Marauders" was made up of a group of exceptional young men and women attracted not only by the job but by the adventure.

There were the freshmen; although they were first timers and often found themselves sea sick and disoriented in the towering structure of the U.S.S. Hanover, they perservered and proved an integral part of the Marauders. The Sophomore band of buckaroos showed that what they lacked in experience they made up for in spirit; and the juniors waited their turn to lead by swabbing decks and having a great time on shore leave.

A good time was had by all. Through our travels there were dances on the main deck, a myriad of sporting events and educational opportunities. The commanding officers hung their lifejackets in the Senior Lounge where the sounds of Bob Marley, The Talking Heads and Dire Straits were heard.

The crew was commanded by the most courageous and gallant group of young men and women to sail the seven seas since the days of Christopher Columbus. The seniors had four years sailing experience through smooth and stormy waters. They used their knowledge to break in new recruits, to insure that the good ship Hanover sailed full steam ahead and of course to make sure that the freshmen kept the toilet bowls clean. Because this is their last voyage it is only fitting to remember their wonderous accomplishments for all to profit from. Hence the job of this log. Now let us examine the events of the U.S.S. Hanover in the nautical year 1986 . . . so load on the sheep and let's blow this fruit stand!

"Sung to the tune of Gilligan's Island"

This is the tale of some castaways,
They've been here for a long long time,
They've had to make the best of it,
Here at Hanover High.

They're stranded in this college town,
with nothing to do at night;
But have no fear K-Mart is near,
And McDonald's within sight.

There are many clubs like French and Math,
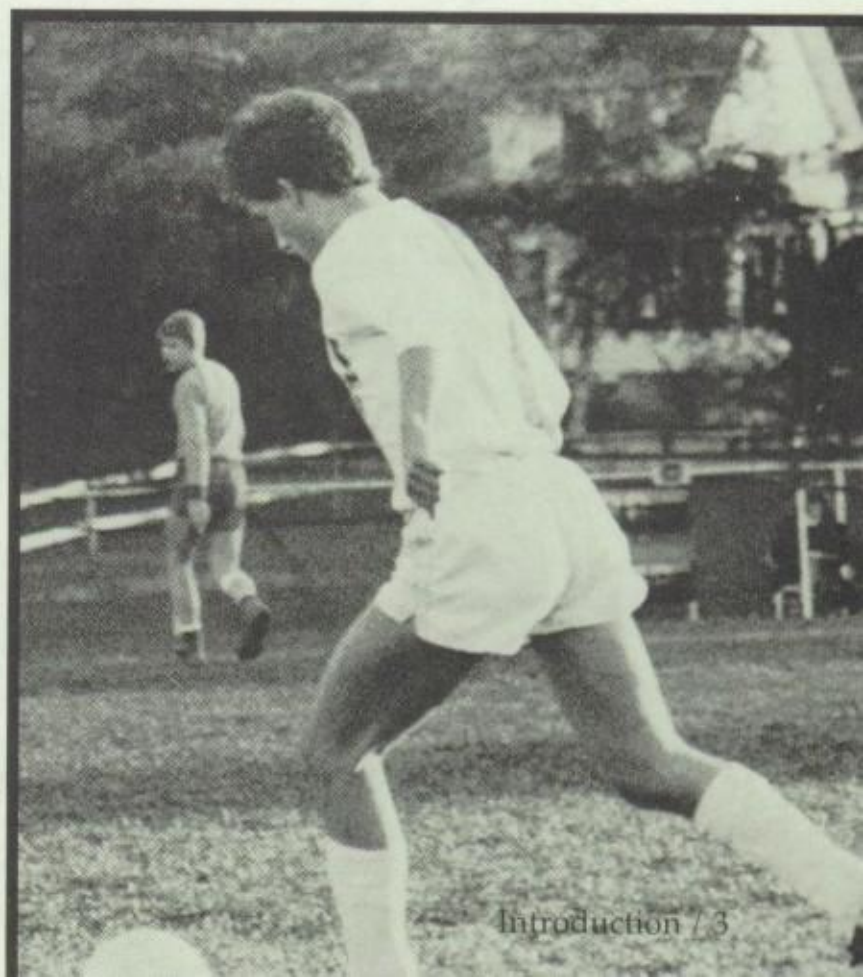
Inde and Broadside too,
It's real easy to find your path
To our cafe with greasy food

There's a principal,
The Skipper too,
Professors and their wives,
No movie stars but janitors,
To make it all worthwhile.

So come on in and take a seat,
You're sure to crack a smile,
While hearing the tales
Of these castaways,
Here at Hanover High.



"The waves echo behind me . . .
But there are other beaches to explore.
There are more shells to find.
This is only the beginning"

- Lindberg

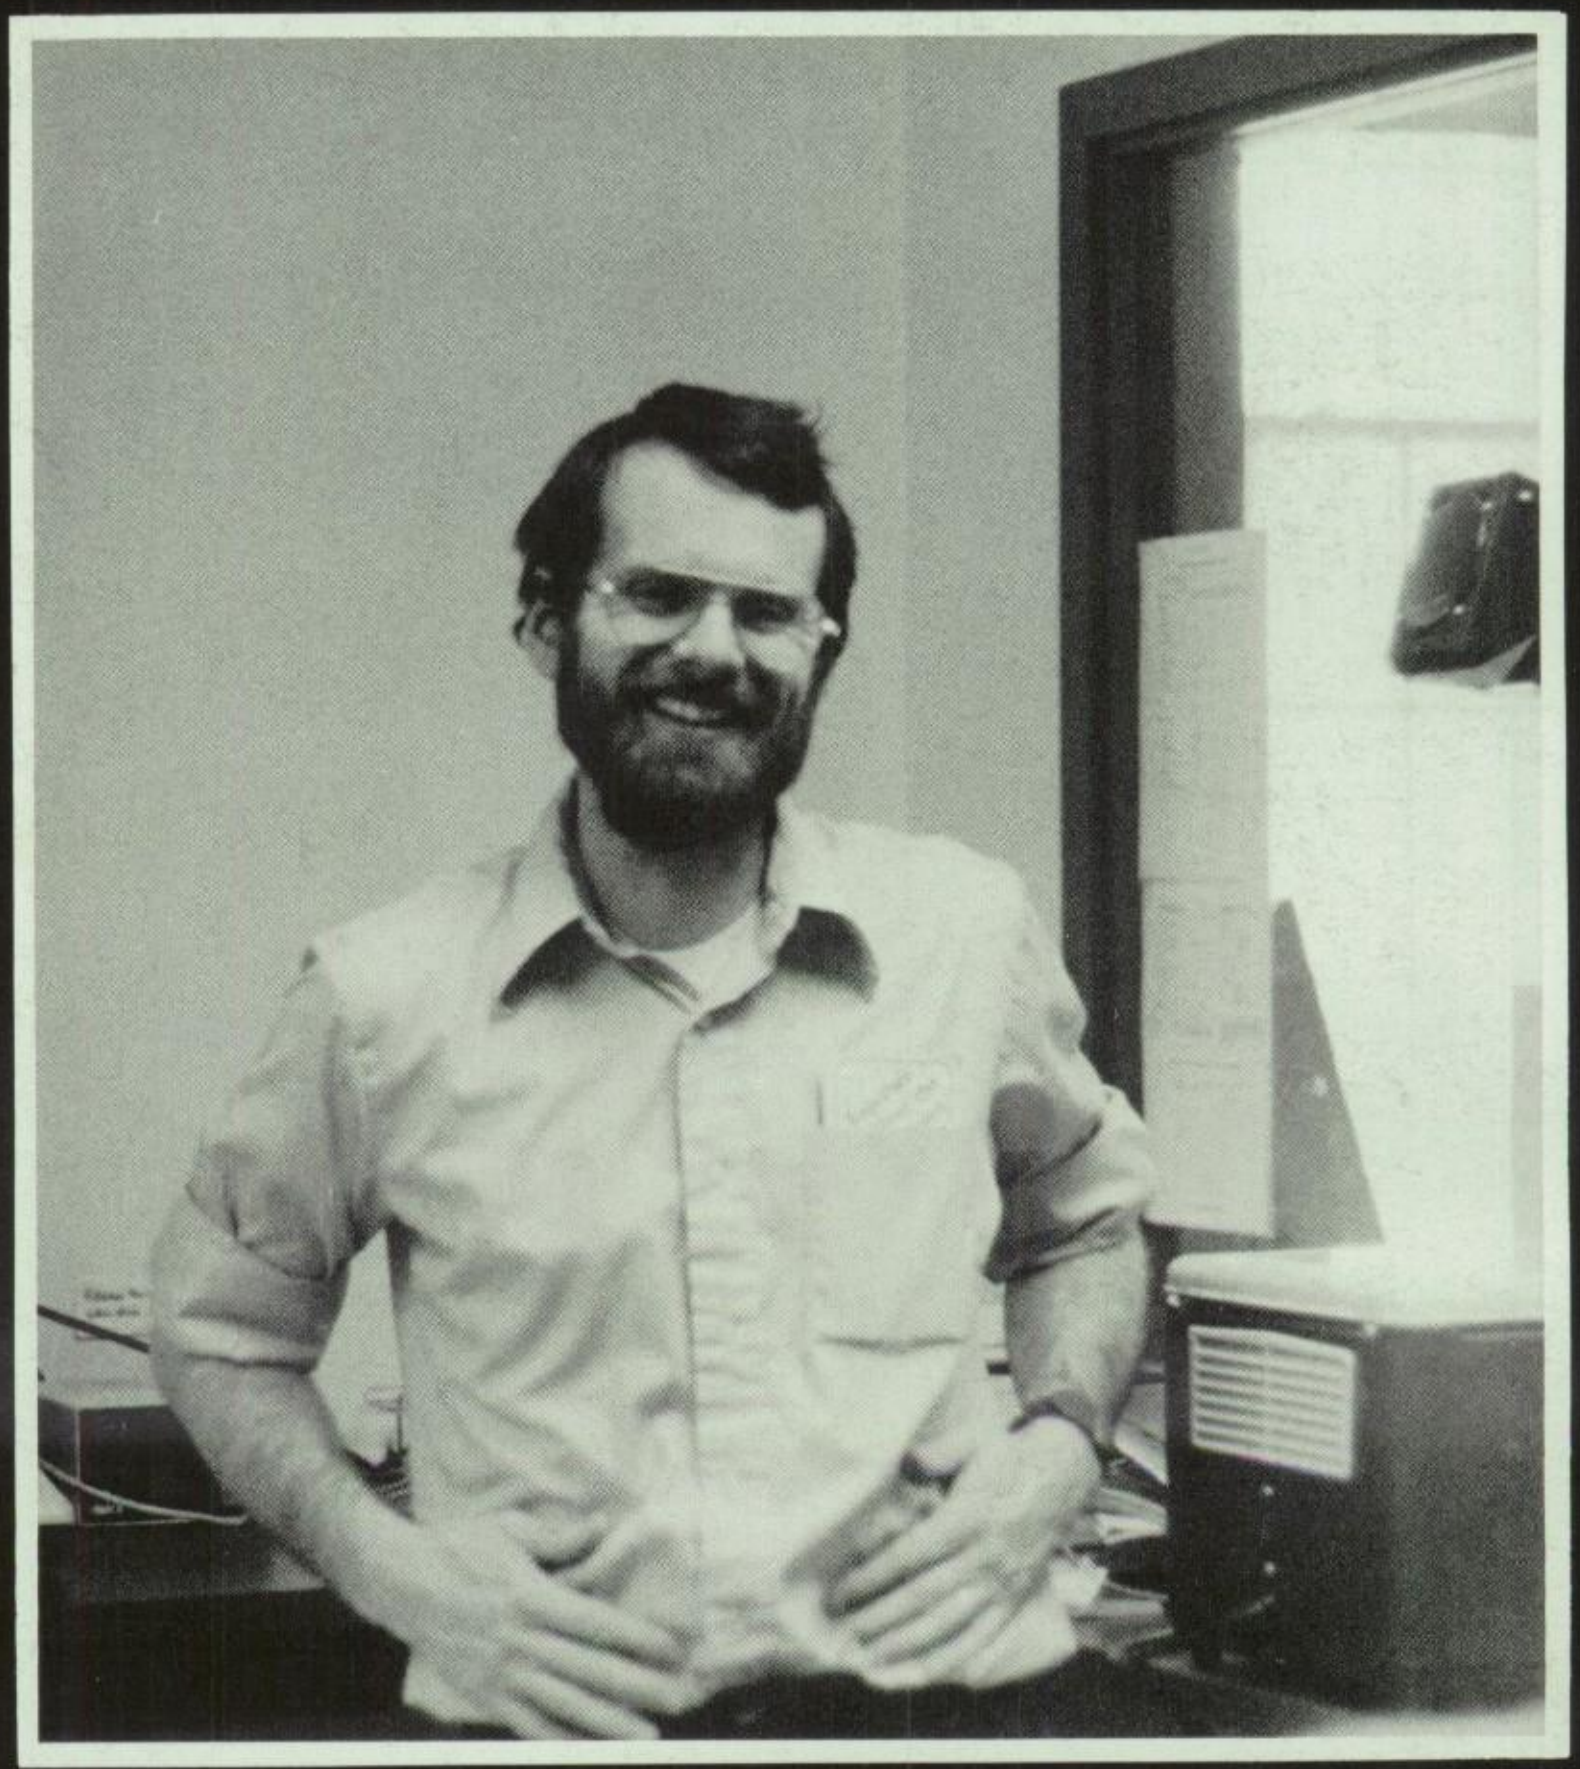
DEDICATION



Your quiet patience and cheerful willingness to be of assistance at any time are qualities that have endeared you to us. We sincerely appreciate and value the efforts you have made for us, both in the past and present. Therefore, as a token of our gratitude, we, the Graduating Class of 1986, dedicate this yearbook to you, Stanley Crane.

COUNCIL

The 1985-1986 proved its buoyancy when our "Humble" Emperor, Kurt Wilberding single-handedly thwarted the attack of former Executive, Jim Mitchell, by throwing the blond bully into the frigid water of area one. Indeed victory was ours. On that same day Dennis Logue after being dragged across the dirt beach, vowed to assassinate the young moderator. But the plot was crushed; Dennis was sentenced to wear the same coat and tie the entire year.

Commanded — by — yours — truly — Captain Wilberding with First Officer Lieutenant Appleton, Ensign Kelley, and thirty other grimy, hardworking sailors (pirates), the 1985-6 Council navigated the course of that great vessel — The U.S.S. Hanover. These adventurers sailed far and wide in search of the treasure. What they found, though, was the meaning of the Judiciary Committee, sixteen new parking spaces, a gavel, four boxes of unorganized Council documents, and a tampon vending machine.

"THIS IS THE GREATEST COUNCIL EVER"

BROADSIDE

What do you mean do we want to go underground? Admittedly Broadside had its problems in September. No advisor, no money, but that was no hassle for this staff. We didn't care. Besides Beth likes to worry. Fortunately we quickly recruited Martha Esersky as our advisor, and had an advertising blitz. Martha had the journalistic instinct and love of Oreos it takes to make it on Broadside. Our Dept. Heads all managed to pull through in a bind (with a smile?)

Who can forget:

I see part of the window is gone . . . did Beth get mad again?

Hey Alex, forget the deadline, whenever you're ready with those pictures; the printer will wait.

Why can't everyone be like Kim?

Wow, did anyone know this layout board lit up?

What kind of extensions can Tammy get this issue? What do you mean an Inde deadline is more important?

Cindy thinks our glorious institution looks like a jail!

Is it offensive? Well, could anyone be offended? What I mean is . . . Beth, "I want my funding."

"If you're gonna drink and drive, for Christ's sakes bring the car!"

The scores will be a month or so late but people love to reminisce.

No, I'm serious, this is a mandatory meeting. No we won't save you any pizza.

As long as we remain ignorant and insane I see no problems. We're all minors anyway.

Congratulations (we made it!) and many thanks!!!

"Sign me in." "What do you mean we're having an exam?" "The concert's tomorrow?"

Being in Band raises tough questions for the students such as: Why do I get up early to go to band when my next class isn't until noon? Why is it when I finally motivate myself to get out of bed, Band is cancelled? When was the last time I practiced? What instrument do I play anyway? Does Atticus ever stop rapping? Did anyone get an "A" second quarter? Are there really such things as "Band Captains"? And most importantly, will Kristen ever get her Pep Band?

Regardless of these doubts, one must agree, "We're jammin'!"

SINGING SEAMEN

Rod, Karl, and I started out the year with lots of music, but no one to sing it. Then the great talent search of 1985 began. We screened out thousands of young harmonizers, and then we discovered the golden tones of Steve, Lars, Derek, David, and Spike. We held our first meeting in my kitchen, and promptly decided that our first priority was FOOD! (my food that is) Of course, the second priority was to humiliate a certain unscrupulous group of high frequency (we're talking radar), low applause, rigormortized medieval teeny boppers, not to mention our worthy adversaries, the Highlights. I guess singing was somewhere on our list. Ravaging my kitchen and razing my living room soon became boring, so the guys thought they might try a little singing for a change. We saved much time by skipping the little detail of pitch. Of course, choreography goes without saying. As soon as word spread that Cortney Smith was not our director last year, the concert requests started pouring in. Too bad we couldn't fit the White House into our schedule. Just remember: your name, sun, fun, beating on Spike, Derek finding the correct practice time by process of elimination, beating on Spike, and the X-rated Underdog theme.

AN A CAPELLA APOCALYPSE! Our minds and voices blown after the first week, we embarked on the most thrilling trip into La-La Land; our director "The Sidney" a loquacious feminine creature of high sugar levels and amazing musical and leadership skills. The voyageurs: Beavis the Clevis (an awesome cool guy) learned in the art of Senior Lounge music; Gillian the Caffeine Queen; Leslie Kleck West?; Hey Karl, why don't you bottle that natural hair oil?; Niffer (Sydney II); Rod "Excuse me, but that's stupid"; Adam and his exquisite pitch by trial and error. With such a refined group we were sure to shower the front row with our diction and amaze musically oriented small marsupials with our melodious tones. Footnotes guys, "We want to be happy"! Footnotes girls, "Can we make you happy?"

O-Ee-Oh-Ee-Oh — HUH!! And the season was off! Our first year as a school sport! What do you mean we can't call you J.C. anymore? And you want us to run where? Norwich and back!? Yes it was preseason time. Parking lot practices, stadiums, Balch Hill again? Oak Hill!!? Gym practices! "O.K. Lars I want you to take this club in your hand and hit attack-men in mid-air knocking them back five feet!" J.C. It was with these fun activities that gave us another morally victorious season! We proved that we could finally play with V.A. but no longer with Proctor or Pinkerton. At least we put Woodstock in its place! With help from Ben "Flying" Nichols, Steve "Body Slam" Costello, Lars "Coast to Coast" Richardson, J. GIRL'S LAX

Yo we're Guido's girls and we are his lassies, Dat's because we have
nice . . . lacrosse sticks.
We cradle and we check and score
goals too,
So why Mr. Guido do we do the stretches the boys never do?
We whipped through the season
But always had time to bag some rays in the late afternoon light.
(shirts?!)
Marty the vicious monger barin'
her teeth on the field,
An' Noelle our fearless goalie,
never did yield.
Jonsies? Whazzat?! We all did say,
Guido answered this question by makin' our bodies all pay.
So, keep in mind until next spring
when we begin anew
Watch yo' step 'cause Guido's watchin' you!

Yo slave! I mean Nina....TANX!!!!

Get psyched for the 1986 season!!!!!!

The '85 season in track was not only a year of vast improvements and pleasant surprizes, but to the team it was also a spring of countless laughs and many good times. Some tough losses and rainy meets had no effect on the cheery spirits of the small but dedicated clan. There were also many personal and team victories that added to the rambunctious feelings of the team.

We all knew that:

Janet was Hanover's version of Carl Lewis, but cheerleading was her true calling.

Woden was always there with her bright smile and stellar performances, but that's the norm!

The Invincible Davey needs a new pair of shoes.

Chris joined the team as a senior basketball fugitive, our amazement grew with his every leap and bound.

Cindy had the true track spirit, the first to come, the last to leave.

The Jrs., on the other hand, were the last to leave.

All work and no play . . .

The sophomores were laid back with the knowledge that they were, as the saying goes, "The shape of things to come."

The freshmen had to learn quickly how to take a joke (and they had to take many!), but they had great spirit and potential that will soon become the envy of opposing teams.

Overall, '85 was a great year that has set the pattern for the seasons to come.

Softball

Despite many mid-season disruptions, such as losing our shortstop and people voyaging to tropical places, we managed to do well. We may not have been the best, but we put up an impressive fight before bowing out to Goffstown. We had a lot of fun as a team — isn't that what it's all about? Thanks to Paul the Stud and special thanks to Brett. Thumper anyone? Backwards? Out the window?!

"Move yer feet!" Coach Jestude was not psyched by the sight of the EMPTY top six positions left by the preceding year's team. But as the snow began to melt, once again, Leverone resounded with ground strokes, volleys, and overheads. Elmo had a big job ahead of him as our NO. 1, but armed with his Reeboks and plenty of money for Mac's he was ready. Patrick recovered from having a little trouble seeing the lines to give Gilford's Doughboy — reject a run for his money. With his two-handed forehand at its best, Curt was fearsome, to say the least. Terry's mastery of reverse spin won him several games. Kurt provided us with fashion tennis shorts, and Larry had a little trouble getting his point across. With Mark providing the Crunch Munch we were well prepared f our roadtrips, if not for ou matches. We sent Elmo and Pat States and finally enjoyed th promised pool party at Coach's. S we didn't have our best recor ever, we had fun, right Jay? But w shall return in '86 so look out!

"You can't be serious, coach a six minute mile?" And so the preseason started with Philippe's demonstration of the benefits of spring track. A tie with the blokes from Eton gave us high hopes for the season ahead. With Mason's debut as goalie (one shot, one goal, no saves) we knew we were ready. We depended heavily on our sophomore connection (last count 27 including Kerry) but they came through with game-saving goals like Bean's against Keene (their only loss of the season, heh, heh), Ant's against Hartford (maybe you could consider a nine man defense for next year coach). After tying the school record for consecutive shut-outs, we fell to Team Healy, even with electrolytes on our side. To punish Stevens for denying us "lights" we refused to score against them.

Then came Leb . . . or should we say Fred. And where did that guy Buchta learn to shoot? Despite Jonesie's break dancing, and Westy's MVP performance, we lost to Leb a second time. With veterans Jay and Steve behind us we managed to win the rest of our season's games. Kees finally decided to share some .of his Swedish language with us. We tromped over Portsmouth first round of the playoffs and coul taste the roadtrip to Concord, bu Leb decided to act as a spoiler onc again — BORING! Som highlights: MJ's VN power salute Lars' demonstration of a forwar roll, Tommy's ball control, scorin off the Digger corner kick, Knif a defensive player of the week (nic pictures, Dave), Ambi's incredibl scoring ability, Zucc's strang attraction for trees, and Hartfor women, Wilda talking for the firs time, Kerry — I was born, in dump . . ., JONESIES. Hyup! So, like this is field hockey?! Aerobics? Running? Can you please be kidding me more? Why NO! Hanover High School Field Hockey started out with a bang! Returning from our summer vacations lazy and out of shape, some more than others, GILLIAN, (ha-ha) we whipped ourselves into INSTA-SHAPE by doing wild amounts of bouncing around to grade B tapes made by Becca (Breathe! Ooo it feels so good!), running up and down Valley Road and, of course long runs to the CO-OP. OOh, who could forget the invigorating, oh my legs they feel like a rock, climb up Mt. Mousilauke! I am a rock, I am an iiiisland. Ah, what a life. But no . . . school?! Whazzat? A revelation set upon the team that we were soon going to be forced to go to school as well as play F.H., Blasphemy.

Yet, this bunch of wild, wily, weebles wobble but they don't fall down women persevered and we managed to deal with school, Beth's imitation of Angus, Liz's grunts, snorts, and chortles, oh and the 500 mile per hour mouths of Helen and Erica, and emerge from this season seeded 17th. Veni Vidi Whoops! You must be my lucky star . . . Madonna! O.K. girls, let's writhe! Famous quotes: "Yaaa" — B.H.; "Am not." —?' In many ways this season was one of "what could have been." Early on in the season looked promising to say the least, our preseason was the greatest in years. We held our own against Bishop Brady the state runner-up the year before. And even defeat Plymouth with a Greg Pelton extra point. But things fell apart from here on. For the first game, Windsor, we had already lost our starting center and linebacker, not to mention our other starting linebacker; both were due to injuries. We had our chances and opportunities, but just couldn't pull it together. We played with a lot of emotion and desire and have nothing to be ashamed about. We did defeat a great team in Woodstock, and our old coach who now resides in Hartford. It was a lot of fun and all worth it. But, we seniors will always wonder "what could have been?" Good Luck in future years Marauders.

Quik get the baketbol! And we be off, with help from our new coach, the High Hard One and Slim Whit. It was a season of moral victories, if not physical ones. At least we beat the state champs and runners up. We had fun anyway, even though we didn't beat Leb, or should we say Jos. This season wouldn't have been possible without E.B., C.P., J.T., and of course Marty and all of Jedi the Red Eye's freshmen friends. A special salute to Papa! Pagoda, and the rest of the circut, including More Fun, and eventually the Weathervane!!! Ungh bust you up. Fall Mountain + Leb. you should've never come back! You ready for another beatin'?! Naturally we hope Gambo had a good season. And, of course, that Sean and M.C's child is as cute as S.C. and E.B.'s would be. Well, it was an interesting year, that's for sure. We actually got to end dry land training and hit the slopes which is something new! Led by our fearless coach Brett Mayfield, who ran us to the limit while he conveniently drove along side of us conserving his energy for his karate classes. Then there was the drive and inspiration we received from our ageless and irreplacable coach, Deb Franzoni, who was out there grinding it out with us. Soon, the snow filled the stormy skies and we were all out there at 10:30 for our 9:00 practice in our pitiful state from the night before. It was at our. first race at Gilford that we realized what the principle parts of the team were.

The Fabulous Four Frosh, Kate, Kristen, Sarah and Karen whose singing will leave a lasting impression on all of our ears and who will make up the nucleus of the girls' team next year. "Hey Sarah, where are your boots?" "Don't worry Karen, you'll be big and strong some day," "Hand check Gillian." "Anybody seen Annie?" Bookworms Jenny and Panda kept the team educated. Manzo and Smith still going at each other. Future ski-meister "Tyrone" knew we could do it. "Coach Hoggy?" Clem, the silent freshman. Tom being persecuted by a certain Femme Fatale. Schiffties famous "I don't know." Josh and Patrick juggling raisins through the fog! We started out strong, stayed consistent and survived to become STATE CHAMPIONS AGAIN! "Holschuh, wanna bananna?" "Pickle Alert"

Our fearless coach, Robin led us into the '85-'86 ski season with talk of the Finnish National team. This year's dryland training brought a new form of masochism; ROLLER-BLADES! The snow came as it usually does — white and fluffy — and as in past years we skied on it. Unlike the alpine team, we braved sub-zero temperatures every day so when the holidays came, we were ready to race. However, thanks to team possession, Jordie and Menza took a two week leave of absence. The best race of the season came in early January — sun and fun a Quechee where Rob, Mason, and Nich went Hawaiian.

RUNNY RUNNERS

Once again our indoor track eam was small and successful. We allied with our spirit and almost never lost. We were successful because of our tolerance for dreaded workouts such as endless intervals. What we do during those workouts is run until we can't, plant our hands on our knees and do some serious air sucking. We also have primitive conversations uch as: "Go away! You're hogging ny oxygen!" What we need during imes like these are comedy breaks. We get that from Erik Rhodes when we hear his distinct laugh after a face plant at 20 ft. in the long jump pit. We got plenty of encouragement from Eric Achtmann and our two exchange students, Alexander and Kees. Mark Swislocki is known for his philosophical conversations during recovery laps.

A few people on the team went past tolerating the sport to indulging in it. Senior Aaron Gilbert put aside the fact that he's had a choppy workout background to race away to many victories. Junior Davy Kitchell ran fast enough to get sponsored by New Balance. He also won a race in a Dartmouth meet. Sophomores Chris Cotter and Charles Ireland continue to get faster. Charles finally convinced himself that indoor track is better than basketball.

Well, we seived out in the playoffs, but the season was fun. The practices in the middle of the night did wonders for our 8 o'clock classes; we proved that driving in your sleep isn't impossible. We taught the Lebanon coach not to "rant-n-rave" and edged by his team 6-0.

Damage report: 1 left rear fender, 2 panes of plexiglass, 1 left hand, 1 two week bender, 20 skiers' lockers, 3 third period 3-0 leads, Bishop Bradey's Pride, and Lebanon.

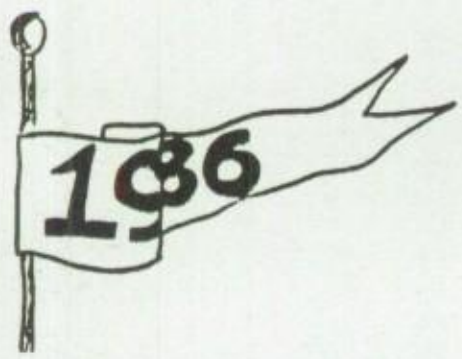
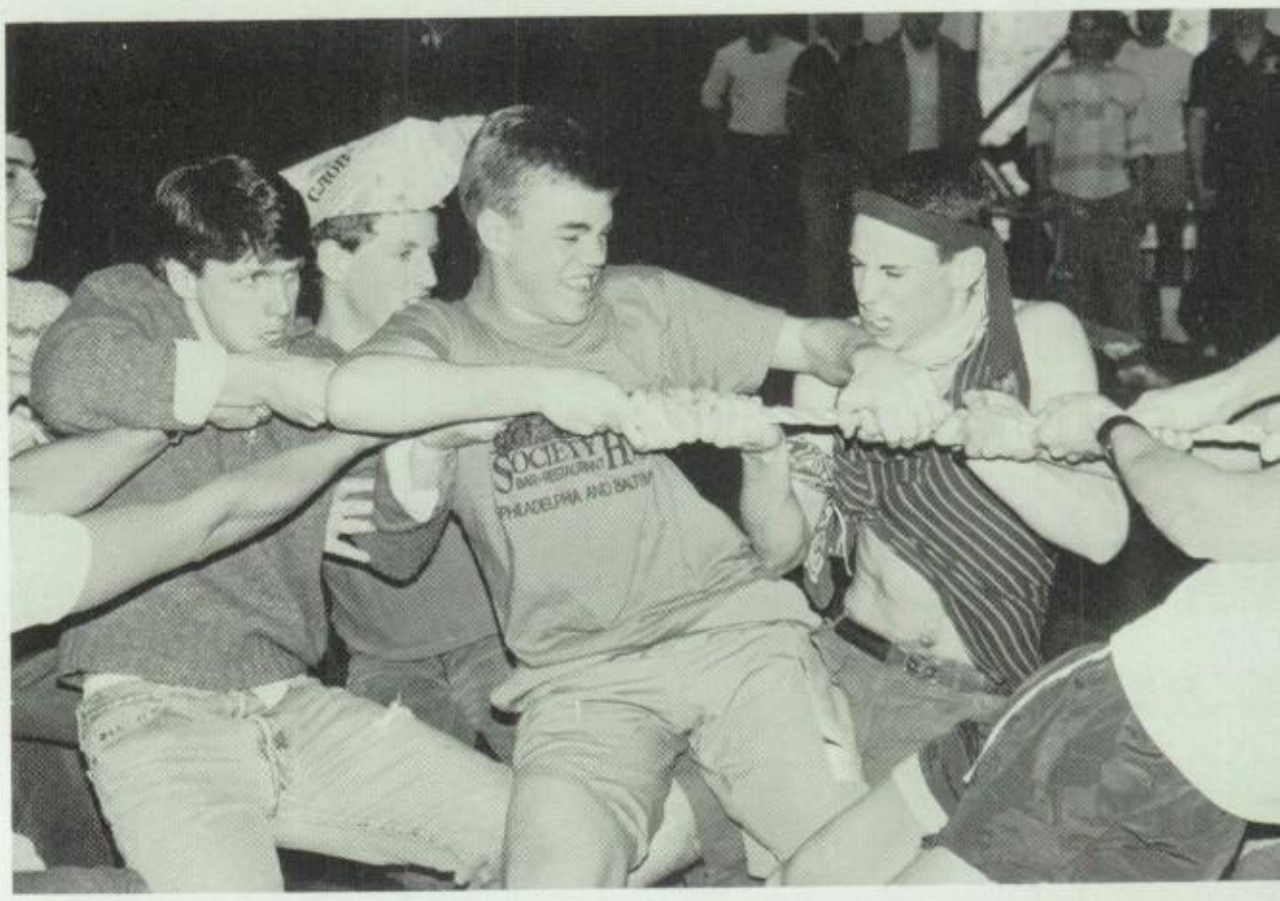
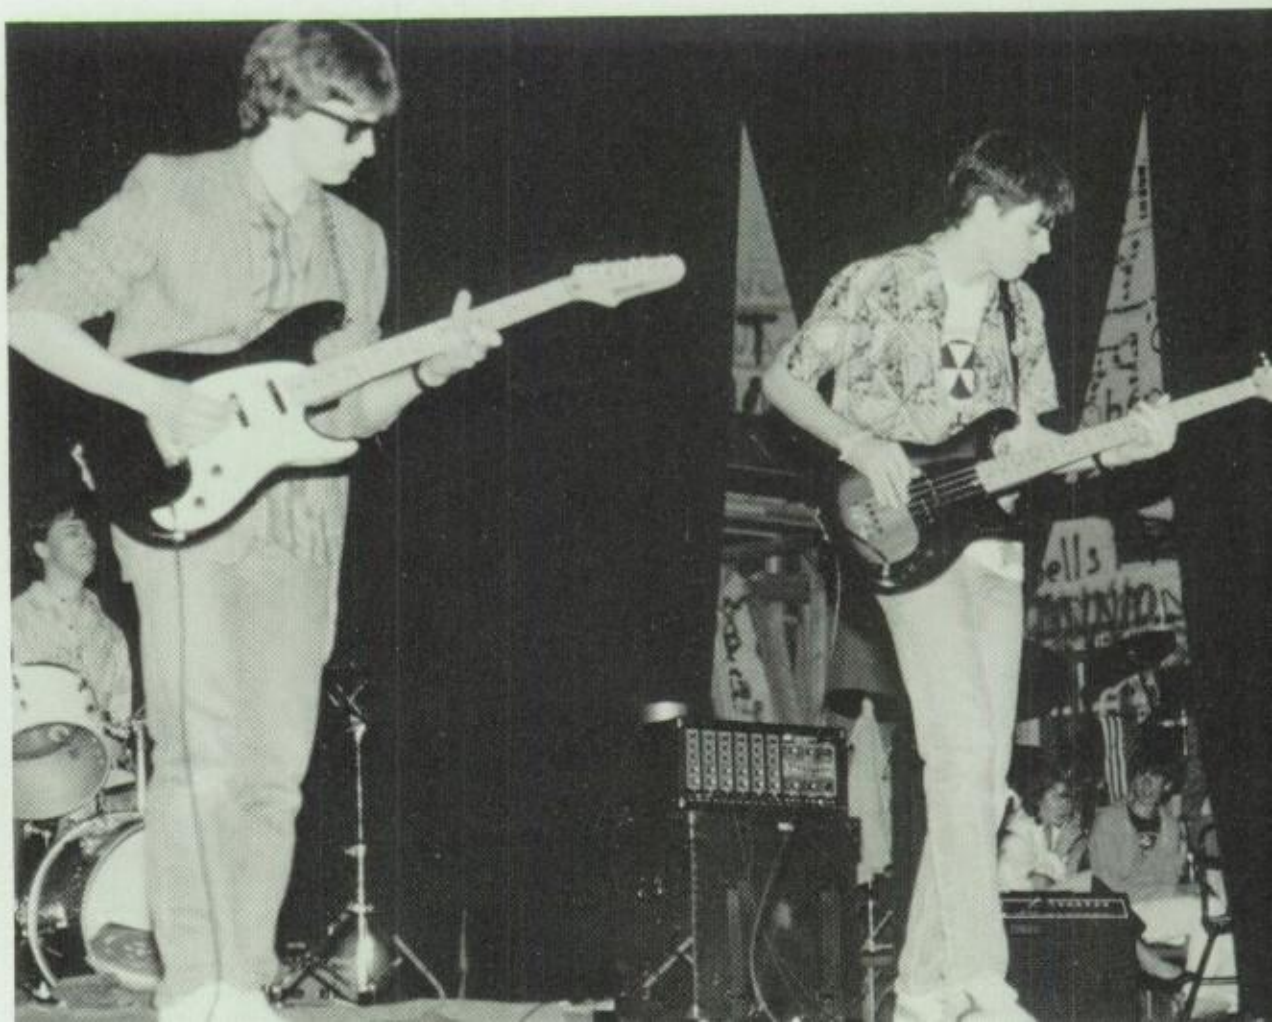
ICE CAPADES

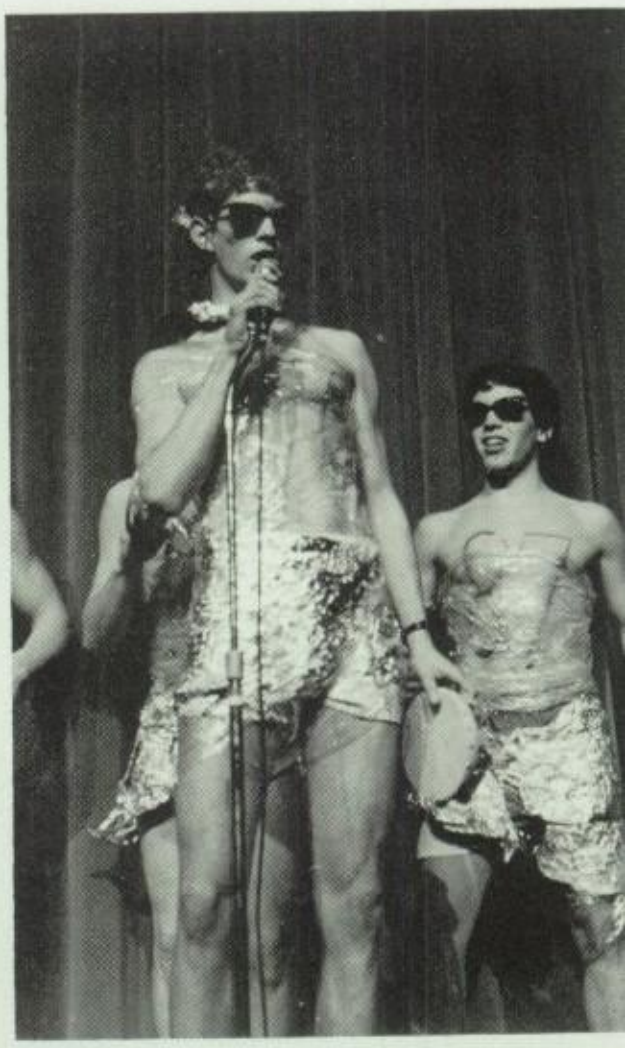






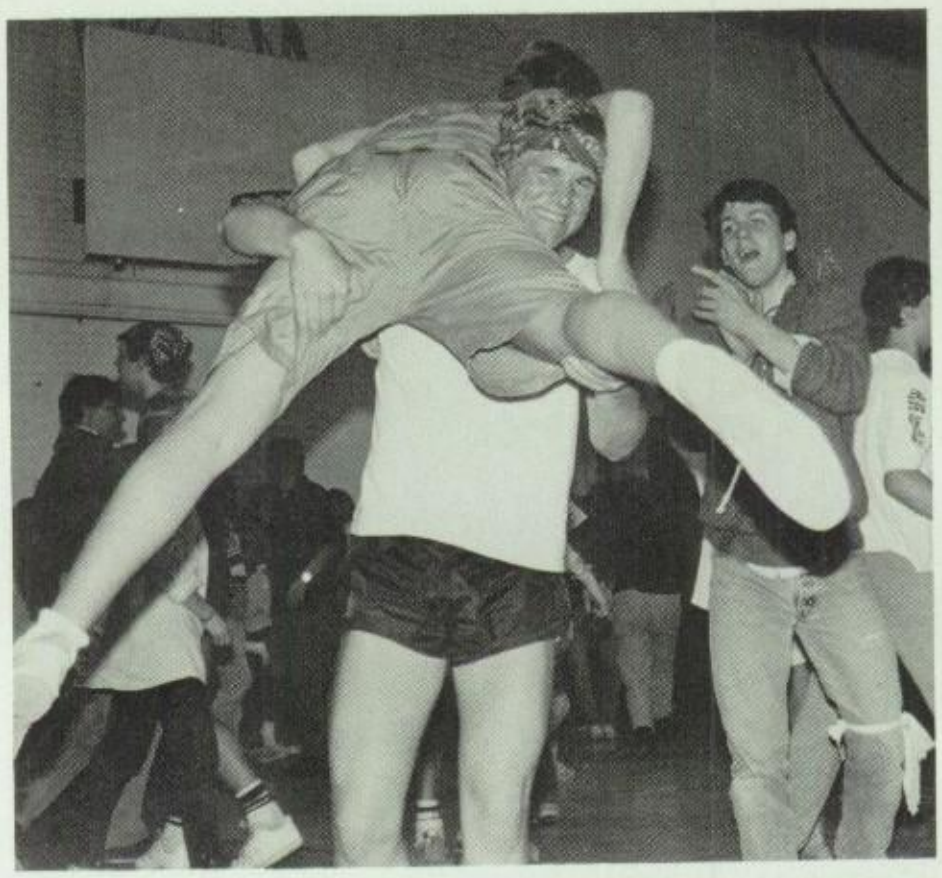
We came into Winter Carnival not knowing what to expect which is reasonable because heck, we are only freshmen. All we can say is, thank goodnesss for the seniors. They were so organized and spirited. Most of all though, they showed such great sportsmanship and athletic ability. I think I speak for all of the class of 1989 when I say that this year's seniors are the best class ever to take part in Winter Carnival. We can only hope to do half as well as they did, in three years when we are the oldest in the school.

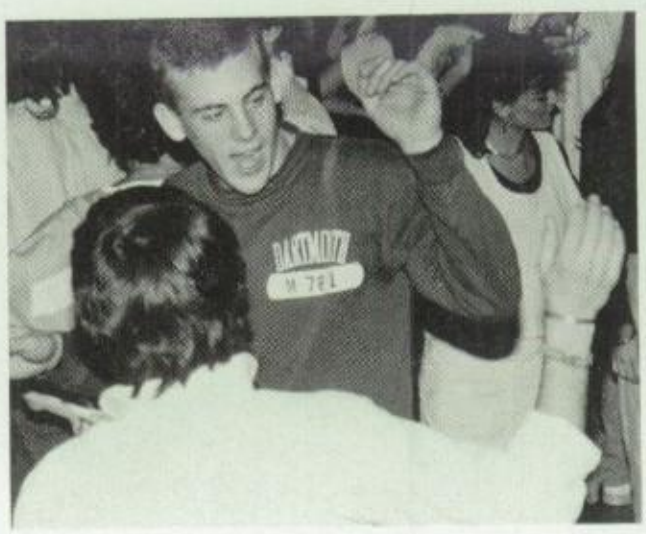
— A member of the Class of 1989

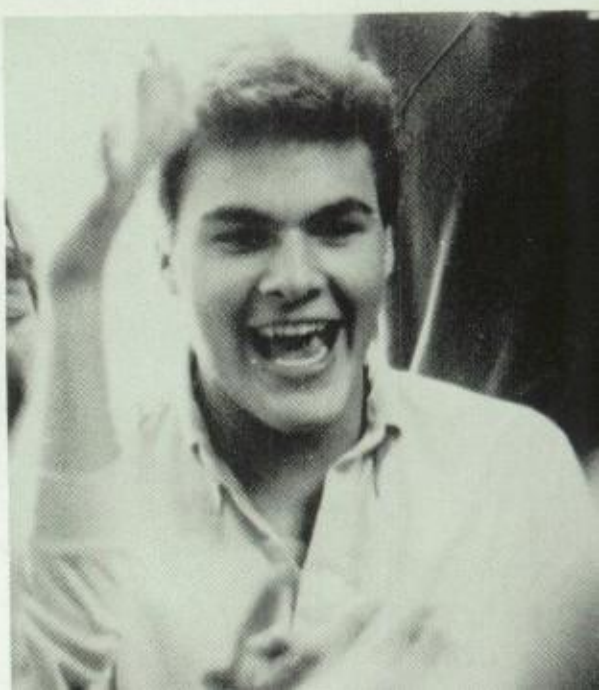


I would like to start by saying simply, "WE LOVE THE SENIORS." What a bunch of fun-loving guys and gals. The class of 1986's fairness was so terrific that we sophomores don't care that we lost to the faculty for the second straight year. The seniors were our guiding light during this year's carnival. We loved them so much that at times we found ourselves chanting, " '86! '86!" Instead of, " '88! '88!" We, the sophomore class would like to thank the seniors for helping us to realize how truly far we have to go to match their accomplishments in the 1988 Winter Carnival. We have already decided that our motto next year will be, "WE LOVE AND MISS THE CLASS OF '86."

— A member of the Class of 1988

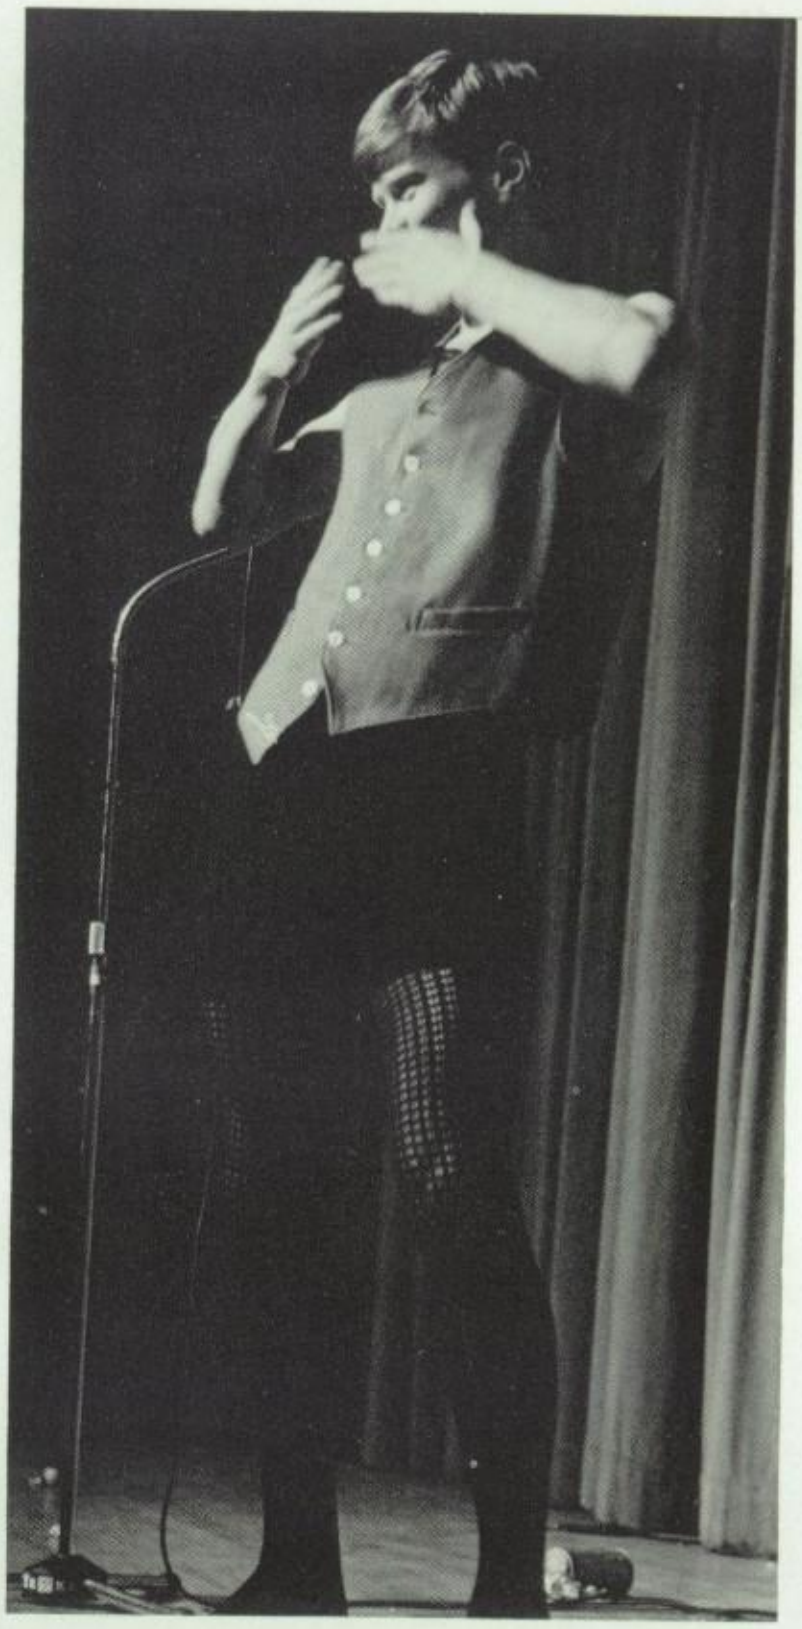






We had hopes coming into Winter Carnival that we might beat the seniors but those dreams were quickly dismissed. I mean, geez Louise, how can you beat the best? The seniors were literally a tower of power this year and all we could do was respect their accomplishments. Most years the seniors cheat to win, but that wasn't the case this year. The class of '86 turned out to be the most just and fair group of competitors Hanover has ever seen. Their spirit and togetherness was something that all of us younger kids can look up to and strive to emulate. I can only hope that next year we can fill their shoes, but it is going to be a tough if not impossible job. The seniors are truly the best.

— A member of the Class of 1967



Upon reflection of the 1986 Winter Carnival, we find that all of our goals were met. Oh sure, we won the whole carnival hands down, but our most important objectives were fair play, fun and not doing homework. All of these dreams were realized. I hope that the example we set will serve as a reminder to future classes that the point of Winter Carnival is fun, love, and kindness to domesticated animals, such as sheep. We appreciate the humble attempts by the faculty and the other three grades to outstrip us in each event, but we were a group of men and women led by destiny. We hope that our accomplishments this year will become a Winter Carnival tradition.

"As for popular errors, they are more nearly founded upon an erroneous inclination of the people, as being the most deceptible part of mankind, and ready with open arms to receive the encroachments of error. . . .

Again, their individual imperfections being great, they are moreover enlarged by their aggregation; and being erroneous in their single numbers, once huddled together they will be error itself. For being confusion of knaves and fools, and a farraginous concurrence of all conditions, tempers, sexes, and ages, or is but natural if their determinations be monstrous and many ways inconsistent with truth. And therefore wise men have always applauded their own judgement in the contradiction of that of the people."

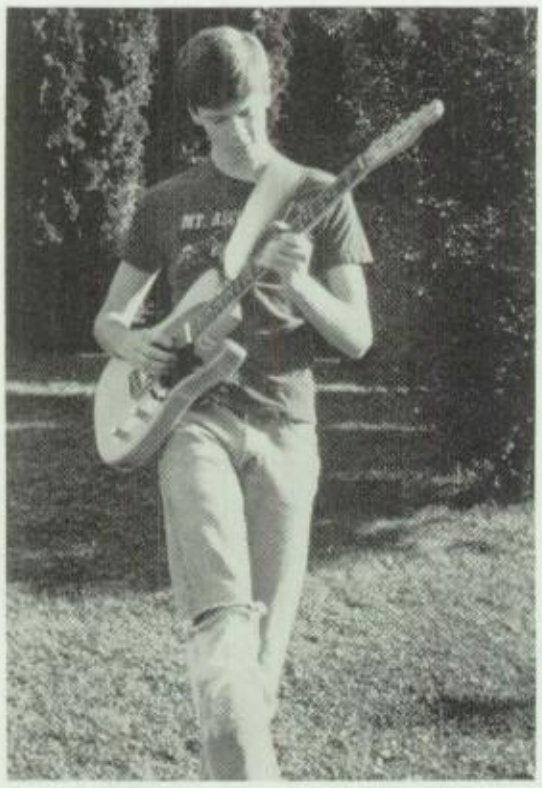
Revolution in their minds the children start to march.
Against the world they have to live in oh! The hate that's in their hearts
They're tired of being pushed around and told just what to do.
They'll fight the world until they've won and love comes flowing through.
Children of tomorrow live in tears that fall today.
Will the sunshine of tomorrow bring in peace anyway?
Must the world live in the shadow of atomic fear.
Can they win the fight for peace or will they dissappear?
So you children of the world listen to what I say.
If you want a better place to live in spread the word today.
Show the world that love is still alive you must be brave.
Or you children of today are children of the grave.



There are places I remember
All my life, though some have changed
Some forever, not for better,
Some have gone, and some remain.
All these places have their moments,
With lovers and friends, I still can recall,
Some are dead and some are living,
In my life, Ive loved them all.

2035 IS IT

And into one end he plugged the whole of reality as extrapolated from a piece of fairy cake, and into the other end he plugged his wife: so that when he turned it on she saw in one instant the whole infinity of creation and herself in relation to it.

To Trin Tragula's horror, the shock completely annihilated her brain; but to his satisfaction he realized that he had proved conclusively that if life is going to exist in a Universe of this size, then the one thing it cannot afford to have is a sense of proportion.

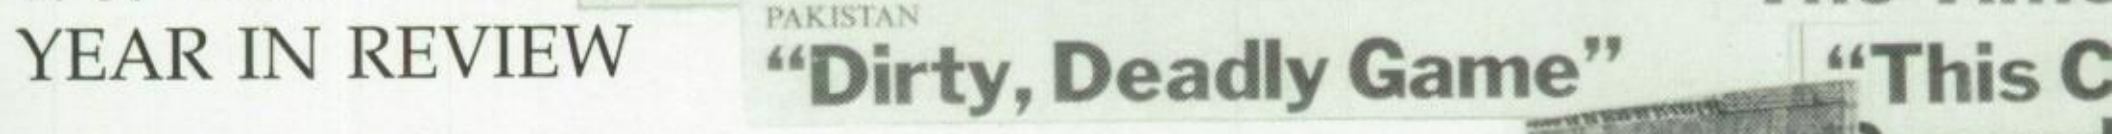
YEAR IN REVIEW



The 1985-1986 school year has come and gone and during its passing the world around us went on spinning. There were many ups and downs this year and from our sheltered perch in Hanover we looked on.

We witnessed the most shocking tragedy this country has seen since the assassination of John Kennedy. On January 28, the Space Shuttle Challenger blew up into an intense fire ball, snuffing out the lives of seven astronauts including the New Hampshire school teacher, Christa McAuliffe who was to be the first civilian in space. Terrrorism continued to hold the world in its grip as Arab radicals hijacked as American TWA airliner and the Italian Cruise ship Achille Lauro among other vessels. These and similar events instilled frustrated rage in people everywhere. Sweden was shocked by the assassination of their Prime Minister, Olaf Palme, who had been able to walk the streets of Stockholm without bodyguards. Finally, in South Africa the oppressive grip of Aparthied tightened as foreign newspeople were kept away while blacks were killed by police. The injustices in Africa spread to our backyard as a handful of Dartmouth students made national news by building and living in a shanty town on the Green to protest Dartmouth's investments in South Africa.

There was also good news in 1985-1986 though. The world's musical artists came together to form Live Aid, the biggest concert in history, with the proceeds going to Ethiopia's hungry. We were all pleasantly surprised to see the Patriots in the Super Bowl. Our hopes for a championship though, were wiped out by William "The Refrigerator" Perry and the Chicago Bears. Our friend in the South Pacific, The Phillipines, underwent a long overdue change in government, as the corrupt Ferdinand Marcos was ousted by the people in favor of Corazon Aquino. We also watched as our nation's symbol of freedom, the Statue of Liberty was renovated to its former grandeur. It truly was a year to remember.

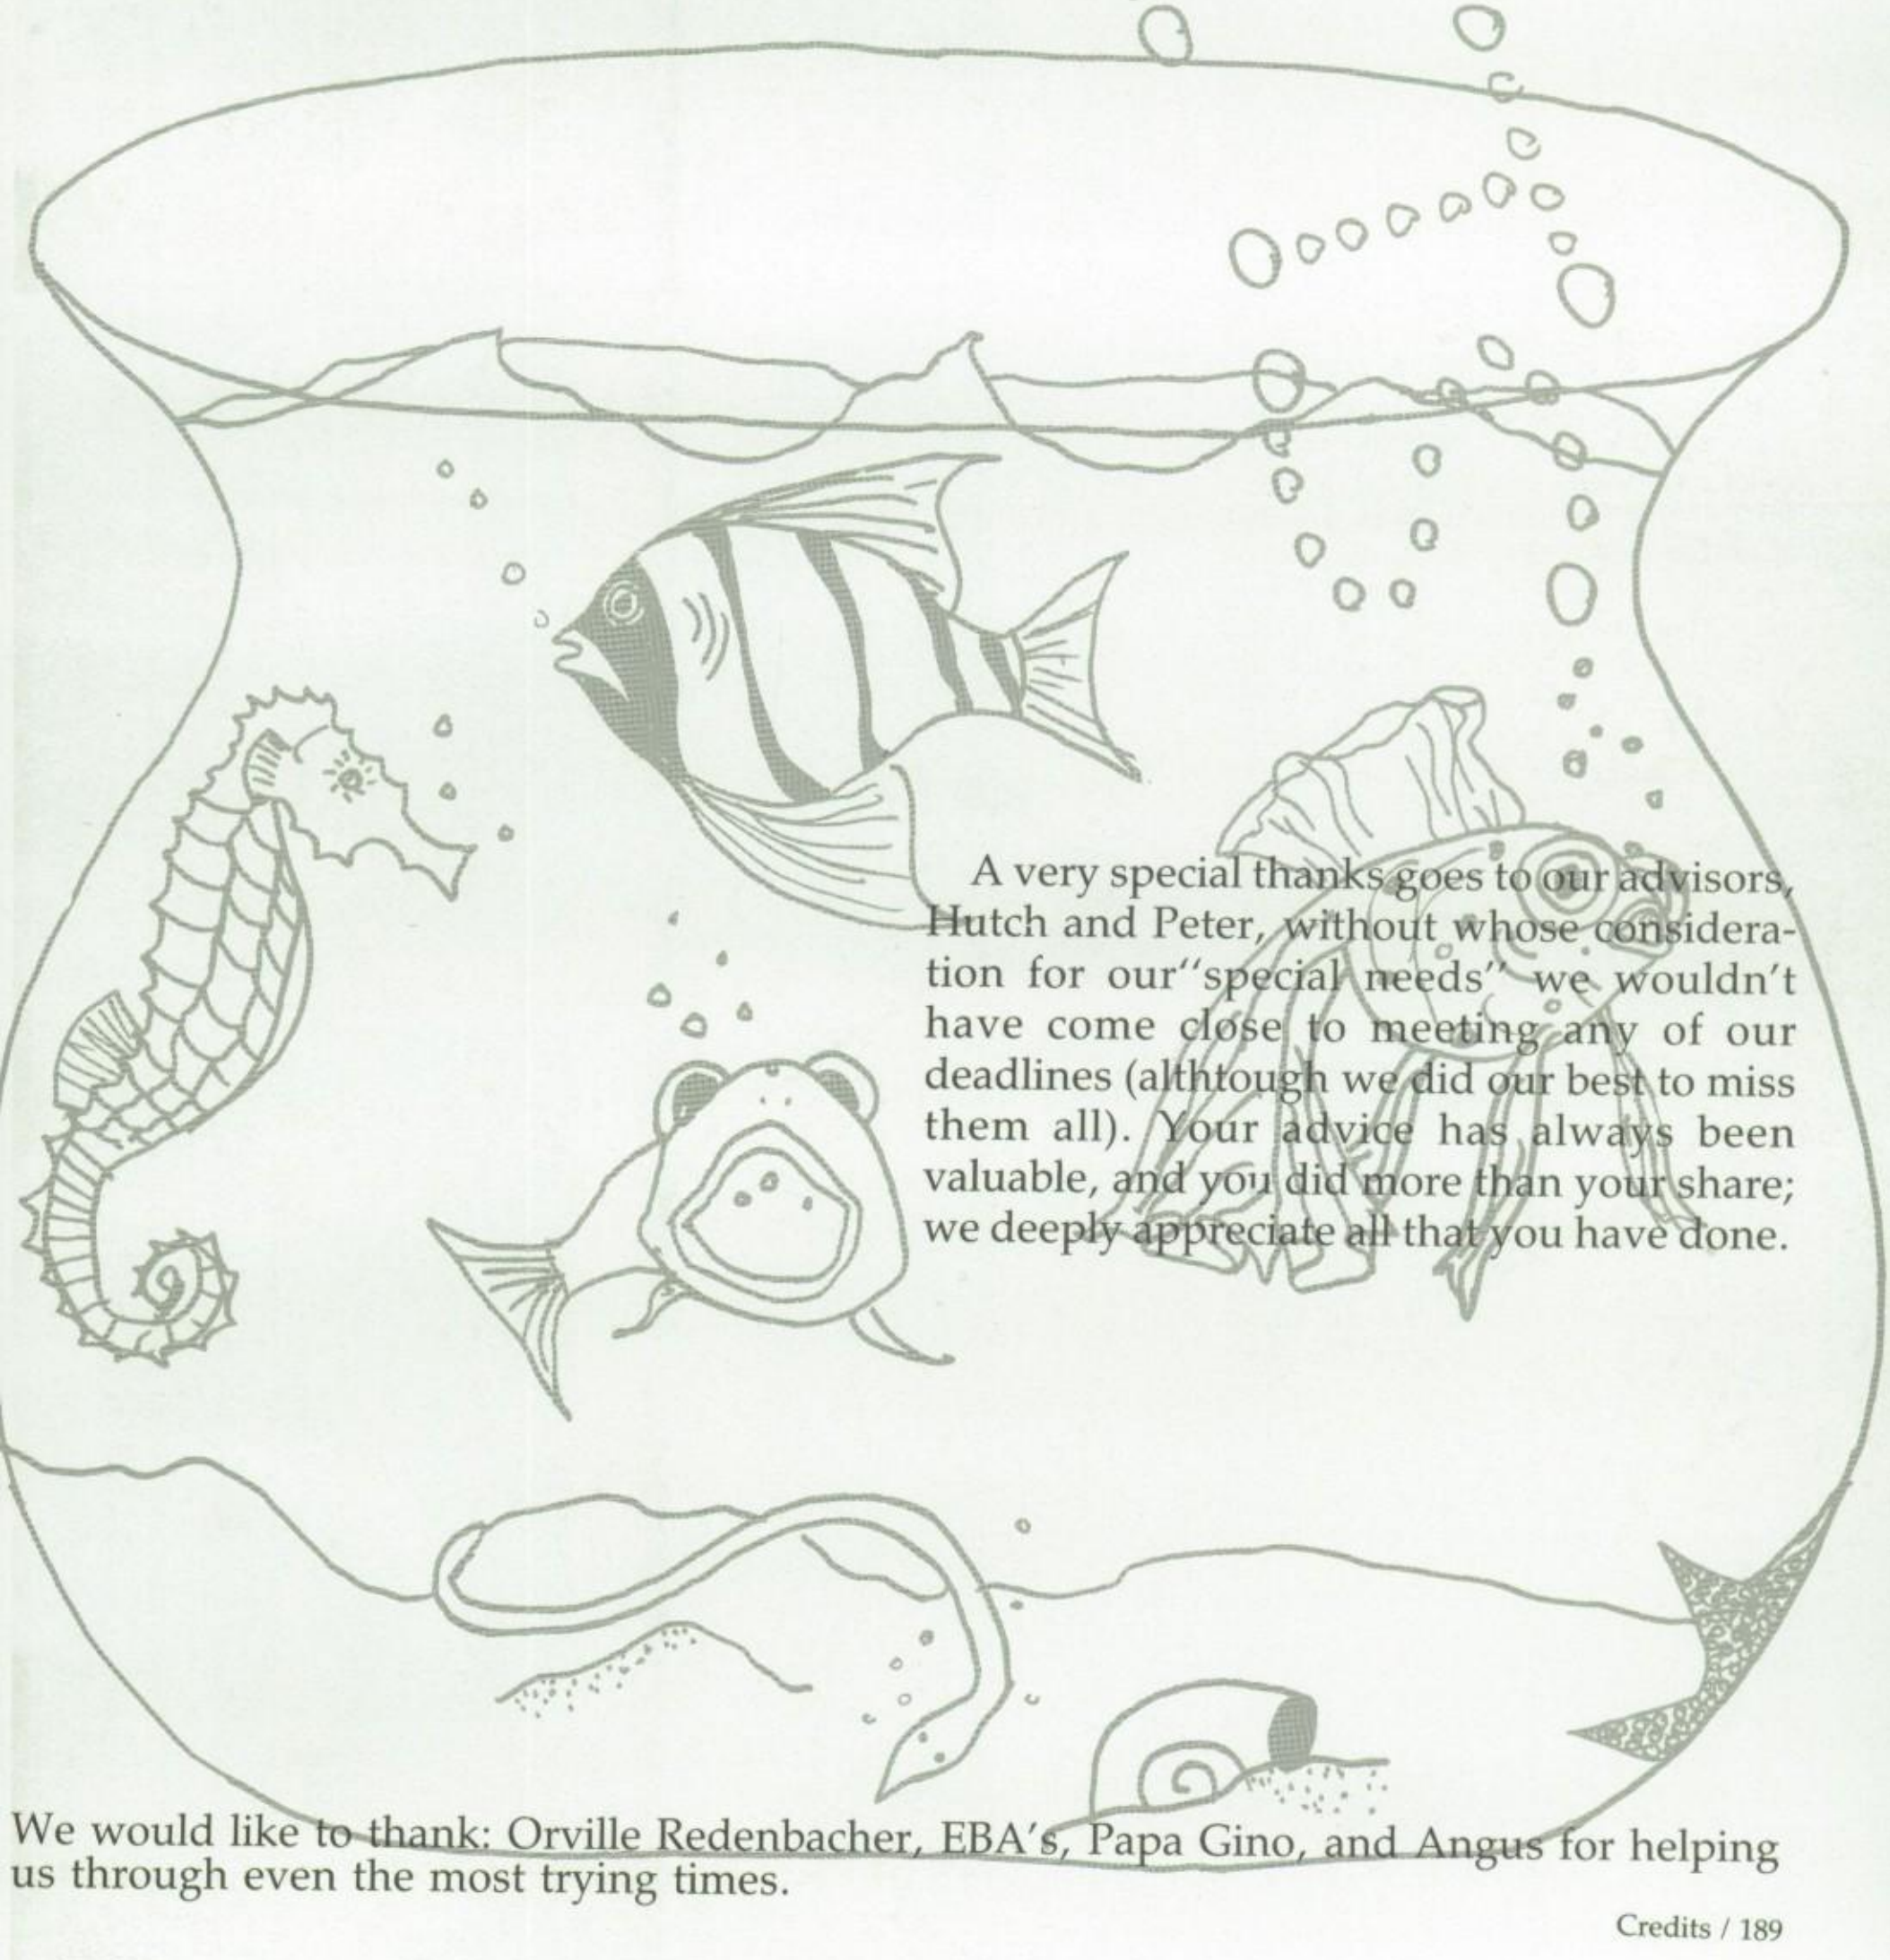
Thank you Jean Aull and the Valley News for allowing us to use some of your photographs.

Thanks to: Laura LeMire for her patience and help with our financial situation;
Mully Blight and the media staff;
Peter Lange for "lending" us his art supplies;
David Roth;
The custodians who allowed us in the Inde room more than one or two deadline nights;
And the people who invented the lip holder on aluminum cans.



A very special thanks goes to our advisors, Hutch and Peter, without whose consideration for our "special needs" we wouldn't have come close to meeting any of our deadlines (althtough we did our best to miss them all). Your advice has always been valuable, and you did more than your share; we deeply appreciate all that you have done.

We would like to thank: Orville Redenbacher, EBA's, Papa Gino, and Angus for helping us through even the most trying times.

Did someone say Inde!? This mentality held true for oh, let's say the whole year. Led by Becca "drop and give me ten" Chase and Erik "The Widowmaker' Chapman, the staff successfully completed a ditto copy added to the next Broadside issue — listing the names, height, weight, and likes as well as dislikes of the graduating seniors. We had planned to tape the pamphlet to lockers and use our money to visit the Red Sox during Spring Training, but we were informed that this was not feasible, so to work we went. Realizing that the entire chore of making a book with pages and a cover would be tedious and since no one could write neat enough to read, we went in search of help. The entire staff piled into Tank's Century and drove to Owensville, Missouri where we found a hollow boulder which was home to Chief Inde Elf and his unionized co-workers. He gave us all the Inde we needed as well as a good many toaster ovens and the diskettes. We returned to H.H.S. and used the Inde Room as an excuse to stay in the school late and read reference books with our feet on the tables. But let us not forget: Hutch who never made us feel stupid, Peter who never thought we were strange, D.J. who put up with us and taught us all a lesson in studliness, sheep, 1849, E.B.A. pizza, Poptarts, bookshelf 842 — 917.3, Orville Redinbacher, the Inspiration Board, the guys who invented Twister, the can tower, Proctor-Silex toaster ovens, microwave pancakes, very sugary coffee, Hanes, Funnels, Djarums, M.F., Inde team hats, messy places, Wear-Ever popcorn popper and caffeine. We would like to wish the Milwaukee citizens good luck next season and may all your Christmases be white!!
